

Finally, a comprehensive and effective substance use treatment program that lets people stay in their jobs and homes

Through our innovative telehealth solution, we offer intensive outpatient care without disrupting lives. It's discreet and convenient, so members focus on getting healthier, instead of focusing on the stigma.

We gamified the treatment process to keep people engaged

Affect is powered by cutting-edge medical science and technology. Members receive small financial rewards for success in treatment, including appointment attendance and negative drug or alcohol screens.

Our results are extraordinary

Affect members are almost 90% less likely to incur costly emergency department visits or hospital stays, driving down employer benefits costs, lowering absenteeism, and improving productivity.

Affect's program works twice as well as traditional treatment options for alcohol, opioid, stimulant, and cannabis use disorders

Eleven percent of all employed adults self-report that they battle a substance use disorder, but only a tiny fraction ever receive care. Untreated substance use disorders cost employers over $80 billion per year in lost productivity, absenteeism, accidents, turnover, and healthcare.

Each person treated saves an employer $8,500***

Workers fear reaching out for help. Affect's discreet program makes it more comfortable and convenient to get the care they need, and stay in treatment until they're healthy.

An exceptional experience ensures high initiation rates with average first outreach to enrollment in under 48 hours.

All services – including drug testing and breathalyzers – are conducted via the app so members have constant and convenient access to care.

Our members regain control of their lives and health, and they are almost 90% less likely to be hospitalized or visit the ED.

Put Affect to work for you

Workers in recovery are stronger employees. They take fewer days off and are more productive than an average employee. Workers in recovery also tend to stay in jobs longer, are less likely to be hospitalized, and have fewer primary care visits.

Driven by data and fueled with empathy, Affect's approach to treating SUDs is a game changer. We work with major insurance providers to lower your costs and make the lives of your colleagues better. Visit GetAffect.com to learn more.
